TAXPAYERS' ASS'N PETITIONS THAT OLD GAS RATES BE PUT BACK IN EFFECT

Six Months' Period For Which Increase Was Allowed Has Expired—High Production Costs Which Necessitated Boost Alleged To Have Gone Back To Normal.

The six months period for which increased gas rates were granted to the Kingston Gas & Electric Company by the Public Service Commission, Second District, will expire on Sunday, and a petition for reduction of rates has been filed with the commission by Francis C. Merritt, as attorney for the Kingston Taxpayers' Association.

To the Public Service Commission of the State of New York:

The Kingston Taxpayers' Association hereby petitions your honorable body for an order directing a reduction in the maximum prices charged to the public for gas by the Kingston Gas & Electric Company, under the provisions of an order of the Public Service Commission, Second District, effective January 17, 1921, upon the following grounds, and under the following statement of facts:

1. Your petitioner is a voluntary association, unincorporated, consisting of more than seven members and composed of citizens and taxpayers in the city of Kingston, Ulster county, N. Y.
2. That the Kingston Gas & Electric Company is a corporation doing business under the laws of the state of New York, and that their address is 611 Broadway, Kingston, N. Y.
3. That said company, during the year 1920, petitioned the Public Service Commission, Second District, for an increase in the maximum prices which they should be allowed to charge consumers of gas in the city of Kingston and vicinity.
4. That upon said petition hearings had been before said Public Service Commission, and thereafter, an order of said commission was made directing and empowering said company to increase its rates to the amount set forth in said order, which order became effective January 17, 1921, and which by its terms was to be effective for the term of six months, or until otherwise ordered by said commission.
5. That upon all of the said hearings and proceedings before said commission, your petitioner was a party, appeared by counsel and was heard.
6. That certain proceedings were thereafter commenced by the city of Kingston, to test the validity of the above mentioned order allowing an increase in said rates, to which proceedings your petitioner was a party, appearing, and which proceedings were heard and determined before the appellate division in this department, probably in September next.
7. That the six months for which the order of said commission was made will expire July 17, 1921.
8. That the conditions under which said order was granted, prices of material used in the manufacture of gas, and other items of expense in said manufacture of gas as they existed at the time of the granting of said order, either do not now exist, or have greatly changed, and the cost to manufacture gas does not at present entitle said company to receive said charge the rates allowed by said order.
9. That the rates allowed by said order, together with the service, or ready to serve, charge, is producing an increase in income to said company, to which it is not entitled.
10. That in other municipalities served with gas by the corporation of which the Kingston Gas & Electric Company is one of the units, and in which communities increases in rates were heretofore granted by said commission, said increased rates have been, and are being reduced by this commission.
11. That for the foregoing reasons, and upon all the grounds stated by your petitioner in its opposition to the order granting an increased rate, your petitioner bases this application.

Wherefore, your petitioner prays this commission for an order directing First, that the order heretofore entered by the Public Service Commission increasing rates to be charged for gas be amended by the substitution of the rates in effect prior to the making of said order.

Second, that said rates as increased by said order, be disapproved by the said commission as unjust and unreasonable.

Third, granting to gas consumers of the city of Kingston and vicinity, such other and further relief as may be just and proper.

Dated Kingston, N. Y., July 15, 1921.

MRS. KABER ESCAPES DEATH

Jury Finds Her Guilty of First Degree Murder But Recommends Mercy and She Will Spend Life in Reformatory—Verdict Delayed Because Woman Lies in Stupor.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Cleveland, Ohio, July 16.—Mrs. Catherine Eva Kaber is saved from the electric chair.

The twelve men who sat as her judges today found her guilty of murder in the first degree as arch conspirator in the murder of her husband, Daniel Kaber, but recommended mercy.

From men she had hoped for mercy. Branding her own sex as "merciless," she had fought to bar women from the jury.

A verdict of guilty in the first degree, with a recommendation by the jury of mercy, carries with it a penalty of life imprisonment.

Mrs. Kaber lay in her jail cell in a stupor when Judge Bernon arrived to receive the verdict.

The court was undecided whether it would be legal for the jury to render a verdict while she was unconscious.

Unofficial confirmation of the verdict was received before the jury made official report.

Her counsel, Francis W. Poulsen, went to her with the announcement of the verdict in hope it would restore her.

Judge Bernon announced the convicted woman will be sent to the Ohio Reformatory for Women at Marysville, Ohio, to spend the rest of her life. The verdict precludes all possibility of pardon.

Attorneys for both sides expressed satisfaction with the verdict.

"We are pleased," said County Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton. "The woman was guilty. She will be locked up where she can do no harm. Justice was done."

The woman's chief counsel, William J. Corrigan, said:

"We could expect nothing less and we are gratified it was not the electric chair. The woman is not responsible and it would have been a crime to sentence her to death."

Cleveland, Ohio, July 16.—Mrs. Catherine Eva Kaber, charged with the murder of her husband lay motionless in her cell in the county jail today as a jury deliberated over her fate.

After a three hours' session last night, the jury took one ballot, it was reported, to determine whether it should decree the death chair or recommend mercy. It resumed its deliberations at 7 a. m., expecting to report to court at 9 o'clock.

All through the night, 19 year old Marian McArdle kept vigil at her mother's cot, ministering to the stricken woman as she woke from troubled dreams in which stalked ghosts—the most terrible of all, the spectre of the electric chair.

The girl's life hangs on the jury's verdict. She awaits trial also charged first degree murder in connection with the plot which ended in the fatal stabbing of her stepfather, Daniel Kaber, rich Cleveland publisher.

The jury may, according to the instructions of the court, acquit the mother on grounds of insanity. Such a verdict would save her from the electric chair or life imprisonment in the penitentiary but would not send her from the court room a free woman. It would be equivalent to a decree committing her to a hospital for criminal insane to spend the rest of her life.

Her fate went into the jury's hands exactly two years from the day her husband was stabbed to death by hired assassins.

OLD TIME BALI STAR MISSING

Irwin was last seen shortly before midnight when he was talking with an old friend aboard the steamer, to whom he admitted despondency because of ill health. Irwin told his friend that he had been in a New York hospital and was "coming home to his brother John's to die."

CONFERENCE NOW WAITS ON JAPAN

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, July 16.—The next move in the disarmament game is Japan's, it appeared today.

The United States, it is understood, has made answer to the Japanese inquiry concerning the scope of President Harding's suggested disarmament conference, and has informed the leaders of the Oriental nation that the question of scope is one which is to be decided by the conferring nations and not by the inviting nation or any one nation.

Reports from Paris that the disarmament commission of the League of Nations is apparently disposed to defer action pending the conference proposed by this nation were received with satisfaction in official circles here for it has been suggested that Japan might express a desire to let the proposed conference go by the boards on grounds that it was a member of the League of Nations which had already started disarmament proceedings.

Secretary of State Hughes and Ambassador Shidehara have exchanged views on the forthcoming parley and it is understood that Japan's ambassador has been advised that he may inform his government that the United States has no intention of drafting the agenda for the conference nor does it seek to force any policies upon the conferring powers.

The administration holds that the program for the conference should be outlined through negotiations between the invited powers and it is understood that these negotiations are now in progress in an informal way. Inquiries which Japan has made of Great Britain and the United States have opened the way for an interchange of views, which should assure Japan that there is to be no attempt to force decisions on specific questions which are not of interest to all powers concerned.

Suggestions of fear, from certain Japanese quarters, that the United States will attempt to bring before the conference questions which Japan believes concern only the United States and Japan, were not substantiated by official comment here.

It was pointed out that the president has invited the allied powers to discuss general principles and that only those questions which affect all of the nations can be properly taken before the conference.

Until Japan gives a final answer as to her willingness to participate in the conference, it is probable that there will be no definite step forward taken in the conference matters, but that informal exchanges of views will continue between the interested nations in an effort to shape the agenda of the parley.

Formal invitations for the conference probably will be withheld pending final action by Japan. At this time the administration does not intend to increase the number of invited nations but this policy may be changed by the exchange of views with other invited governments.

ALBANY GETS CHEAPER GAS

The price of gas in Albany has been reduced by the Municipal Gas Company and householders who have been paying $1.50 per 1,000 feet will after August 20, pay only $1.35 per 1,000. The company has made this rate for the first 25,000 feet of gas consumed and from that up until 50,000 the rate will be $1.25. The minimum charge is seventy-five cents per month.

The reason for the reduction is the drop in the price of gas oil. The company has been paying 13 cents but after August 1 a new contract at 7 cents a gallon will go into effect. The company has oil enough on hand to last until some time in September, therefore the reduction will not go into effect on the first of August. The contract made by the company is for one year so residents of Albany are sure of a reasonable rate for at least that length of time.

SLIDE NARROWS PANAMA CANAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Balboa, Panama, Canal Zone, July 16.—A landslide in the Culebra Cut partially blocked the Panama Canal today. The eastern and central parts of the waterway were obstructed but a channel 100 feet wide and 30 feet deep was left open along the western bank. Navigation will not be impeded except in case of the very largest ships. Dredges are already at work and it is expected that the canal will be cleared in about ten days.

The battleships which are enroute from New York for Peru to take part in a national celebration were not delayed.

Although there have been slides from time to time, that section of the bank which slipped into the waterway had never been regarded by the canal zone authorities as a menace to navigation.

Figures compiled from reports of the three savings banks in this city show that the total deposits July 1, 1921, are $1,329,616.97 greater than the total deposits on July 1, 1920. The increase is pretty evenly distributed, pro rata, among the banks and shows that Kingston people have not given up their habits of saving and are still prospering. Savings bank deposits are not made by the wealthy, but by those in moderate circumstances who earn and save on a comparatively small scale.

OBREGON FIRM TOWARD REVOLT

Minister of Interior Says Oil Interests Are Responsible—Oil Men and Government Seem Deadlocked Over Tax.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Mexico City, July 16.—President Obregon is not apprehensive over the revolutionary situation in the Tampico district. He declared today that the government is sufficiently strong to put down the movement.

The president was asked if he had any evidence that American oil men were behind the uprising, but he replied that an investigation is already under way and that he didn't know what it had unearthed.

Obregon said that legal proceedings would be instituted against persons responsible for the insurrection regardless of their nationality.

The rebels at Tampico were led by Gen. Herrera. President Obregon said he had full confidence in the integrity of Gen. Herrera, who was Herrera's superior. Before the uprising General Palaez had reported to Mexico City that revolutionary agitators were active in the oil fields.

"On the whole, conditions throughout the republic are excellent," said President Obregon. "The only trouble of a revolutionary nature is at Tampico and we are certain that order will soon be restored. Despite the agitation of oil companies the government does not intend to change its policy. We are working for order and rehabilitation. The extra oil tax on exports will not be abrogated."

"The oil interests were responsible," said the minister. "They have been working against the interests of Mexico for some time."

LEAGUE LEADERS PRAISE HARDING

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Paris, July 16.—President Harding's move towards world disarmament was highly praised today when the league of nations disarmament commission met here. Speakers united in lauding the initiative of the American executive in his attempt to end wars.

The commission decided to create a mixed committee of military men and civilians to gather political and statistical data in the various countries. Figures will be compiled showing the size of military and naval establishments in 1914 and at the present time.

M. Viviani recalled that the disarmament commission was created to assist in the execution of the peace treaty. He reminded the delegates that they had not met to discuss national problems but world matters.

"I believe that we can render important service to humanity," added M. Viviani. "I am happy to recall the generous and noble initiative of President Harding. I am not surprised that this great power (America) which so often agitated the question of disarmament, should take this step to unite the governments in a disarmament conference. We are sure our work cannot escape their attention. We will bring to them some solution of the difficult problems."

Other delegates spoke in the same vein, praising President Harding.

British General Fears It Would Help America.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Manchester, England, July 16.—General Sir Ian Hamilton, who accompanied Kuroki's army during the Russo-Japanese war, in a speech here today urged Great Britain to stick to her military alliance with Japan "instead of helping America by merging the Japanese treaty into a larger and looser arrangement."

"We have been invited to a conference in which our position would be like that of the cat with a half a dozen monkeys all urging it to pull the chestnuts from the fire."

On the application of Ezekiel O. Rose, Vincent A. Gorman and Albert E. Rose, co-partners doing business under the firm name and style of Rose-Gorman-Rose, Judge Hasbrouck has granted an injunction restraining Herbert Carl from holding in or in connection with the millinery department now conducted by him in the Rose-Gorman-Rose store any "left over" sales at "rummage" sale prices.

Mr. Carl also is enjoined and restrained from using the name "Herbert Carl," "Carl's," "Carl's Millinery Department" or "Carl's Millinery" in connection with any business prosecuted by him in the premises at No. 334 Wall street or elsewhere except in connection with the millinery department now maintained by him in the millinery establishment of the plaintiffs, in the Rose-Gorman-Rose store.

The injunction order and the accompanying affidavits and exhibits on which Judge Hasbrouck granted the injunction order were filed in the county clerk's office this morning. John T. Loughran is attorney for the plaintiffs.

The papers in the action, which is brought by the three co-partners against Mr. Carl, show that previous to November 11, 1912, the Herbert Carl Dry Goods Company was a domestic corporation conducting a general dry goods business, including a millinery department, in this city. The Herbert Carl Dry Goods Company at that time had an authorized capitalization of six hundred shares of common stock which were owned by Mr. Carl, and four hundred shares of preferred stock of which two shares were outstanding. On November 11, 1912, Mr. Carl entered into an agreement to sell to Albert E. Rose the six hundred shares of common stock and the two outstanding shares of preferred stock.

This agreement among other things provided that Mr. Rose should execute a lease to Mr. Carl of that portion of the store property which Mr. Rose was buying which was known as the millinery department, for a term of ten years at a rental of $1,500 a year. Mr. Carl also being furnished with light and heat. Mr. Rose agreed to secure from the Herbert Carl Dry Goods Company an agreement that that company or its successors would not engage during the term of the lease in the sale of millinery or carry on the millinery business or conduct a business which should be in opposition to the millinery business to be carried on by Mr. Carl under his lease.

Herbert Carl, under the same agreement, covenanted and agreed to assign to Mr. Rose all rights assignable by him in and to the name "Herbert Carl Dry Goods Company," "The Colossal," "Colossal" or any other names he had used in connection with advertisement of his business except that he was to be at liberty to use the name "Herbert Carl" or "Carl's" in connection with the millinery business to be conducted by him under the lease from Mr. Rose.

The actual lease of the millinery department for a term of ten years was executed December 10, 1912, an agreement bearing the same date contained the same agreements which were incorporated in the agreement of the month previous. Mr. Carl agreeing not to use the name "Herbert Carl," "Carl's" in connection with any department conducted by the Herbert Carl Dry Goods Company except in connection with the millinery business to be conducted by him under the lease between himself and Ezekiel O. Rose. Mr. Carl further agreed that for a period of five years he would not engage either directly or indirectly as principal or employee or become interested financially in any business conducted by the Herbert Carl Dry Goods Company except the millinery business.

The corporate name of the Herbert Carl Dry Goods Company was changed to Rose-Gorman-Rose, Inc., on June 15, 1916, and on May 15, 1919, Rose-Gorman-Rose, Inc., transferred its assets and property to the plaintiffs, the Messrs. Rose and Mr. Gorman.

The complaint in the action against Mr. Carl alleges that "Notwithstanding his agreements and covenants aforesaid and maliciously, wrongfully and with intent to injure and destroy the benefits obtained by the plaintiffs under said agreements, the defendant has since on or about the 9th day of July, 1921, ceased to maintain and conduct the millinery department leased to him in the business establishment of the plaintiffs in the manner in which he had theretofore conducted the same in accordance with the terms and conditions of said agreement as aforesaid, and has removed and transferred said department out of the business establishment of the plaintiffs and into the store and premises, No. 334 Wall street, Kingston, New York, and directly across the street from the business establishment of the plaintiffs, and has removed his stock in trade from said department in the business establishment of the plaintiffs to said store and premises across the street therefrom, and now keeps in said department in the business establishment ment of the plaintiffs for sale therein brands and grades of millinery of a quality and kind much cheaper than and inferior to the brands and grades of millinery heretofore sold by him therein; and has announced in the newspaper press of the city of Kingston, New York, his intention to hold 'left over' sales at 'rummage' prices in the millinery department leased to him and heretofore maintained and conducted by him in the business establishment of the plaintiffs aforesaid."

Notwithstanding his agreements, not to use the name "Herbert Carl" or "Carl's" in connection with any line, branch or department of business carried on by the Herbert Carl Dry Goods Company at the time of the agreement and lease except in connection with the millinery department which he leased in the establishment of the plaintiffs, it is pointed out that he is conducting business at 334 Wall street under the name and style of "Carl's Millinery" and "Carl's Millinery Department."

The maintenance and conduct of a high grade millinery department in the general business establishment of the plaintiffs is most important to the general success of their business, it is pointed out in the complaint, that the maintenance and conduct of a millinery business such as Mr. Carl is now prosecuting and intends to maintain and conduct in the millinery department of their business establishment inevitably leads to lower the tone and repute of their business and to cause their custom to lose confidence in them and generally to lessen the sales in all other departments of their business; that there is no separate entrance to the millinery department conducted by Mr. Carl in the Rose-Gorman-Rose store but it is entered from the main store, and that the custom of the plaintiffs will necessarily regard the cheap and inferior grade and quality of millinery now displayed by Mr. Carl therein as representative of the sort of merchandise generally dealt in by them, when in truth and fact the plaintiffs in all other departments of their business sell and deal in only the highest grades, kinds and qualities of merchandise.

LLOYD-GEORGE READY TO FORCE ULSTER INTO LINE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
London, July 16.—Leading members of the cabinet of the Ulster government arrived here today in response to a summons from Sir James Craig, the North Ireland Premier, and immediately took under consideration the Sinn Fein peace proposals that had been communicated to Premier Lloyd George by Eamonn de Valera, "president of the Irish republic."

It was admitted that there may be some hitch if the Unionists are obdurate against accepting de Valera's conditions, but it was reported that Lloyd George was ready to "use more than persuasion" on the Ulsterites to prevent them from breaking up the peace negotiations.

Officials believe it is unlikely that Sir James Craig will meet the premier again on Monday when the latter renounces his peace conversations with de Valera.

The Chronicle believes that the conversations between Premier Lloyd George and de Valera will be continued Monday and Tuesday and possibly Wednesday. De Valera, according to the Chronicle, will probably return to Dublin about the middle of next week to obtain the consent of Dail Eireann (the Sinn Fein parliament) before meeting Sir James Craig. If Dail Eireann consents then the scene will be set for a general parley with de Valera and his colleagues representing the republicans, Sir James Craig and his colleagues representing England and the British government.

The impression has gained strength here that de Valera is the real voice of Ireland.

9. That the rates allowed by said order, together with the service, of ready to serve, charge, is producing an increase in income to said company, to which it is not entitled.

10. That in other municipalities served with gas by the corporation (which the Kingston Gas & Electric Company is one of the units, and in which communities increases in rates were heretofore granted by said commission, said increases have been, and are being reduced by this commission.

The United States, it is understood, has made answer to the Japanese inquiry concerning the scope of President Harding's suggested disarmament conference, and has informed the leaders of the Oriental nation that the question of scope is one which is to be decided by the conferring nations and not by the inviting nation or any one nation.

Reports from Paris that the disarmament commission of the League of Nations is apparently disposed to defer action pending the conference proposed by this nation were received with satisfaction in official circles here for it has been suggested that Japan might express a desire to let the proposed conference go by the boards on grounds that it was a member of the League of Nations which had already started disarmament proceedings.

Secretary of State Hughes and Ambassador Shidehara have exchanged views on the forthcoming parley and it is understood that Japan's ambassador has been advised that he may inform his government that the United States has no intention of drafting the agenda for the conference nor does it seek to force any policies upon the conferring powers.

The administration holds that the program for the conference should be outlined through negotiations between the invited powers and it is understood that these negotiations are now in progress in an informal way. Inquiries which Japan has made of Great Britain and the United States have opened the way for an interchange of views, which should assure Japan that there is to be no attempt to force decisions on specific questions which are not of interest to all powers concerned.

Suggestions of fear, from certain Japanese quarters, that the United States will attempt to bring before the conference questions which Japan believes concern only the United States and Japan, were not substantiated by official comment here. It was pointed out that the president has invited the allied powers to discuss general principles and that only those questions which affect all of the nations can be properly taken before the conference.

Until Japan gives a final answer as to her willingness to participate in the conference, it is probable that there will be no definite step forward taken in the conference matters, but that informal exchanges of views will continue between the interested nations in an effort to shape the agenda of the parley.

Formal invitations for the conference probably will be withheld pending final action by Japan. At this time the administration does not intend to increase the number of invited nations but this policy may be changed by the exchange of views with other invited governments.

JAPS FEAR EFFECT ON ASIATIC PLANS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Tokio, July 15.—(Delayed)—Supporters of President Harding's proposal for a disarmament conference expressed the opinion today that such a conference would interrupt and perhaps block entirely Japanese military activities in Siberia. It is charged by political opponents of the Hara administration that Japan is illegally holding Vladivostok and other places.

While the diplomatic advisory council has announced that Japan will participate in the proposed disarmament conference, such participation is opposed by some of the military leaders. They profess to see in disarmament a serious obstacle to the Japanese plans in Asia.

The American commercial attaché who has just returned from Siberia, where he investigated conditions in the Far East republic, will make a personal report to Secretary of State Hughes.

The investigator refused to say whether or not he had found that Japan is negotiating for a treaty with the Far East republic.

It is possible that the report of the commercial attaché to the American secretary of state may have some bearing upon the proposed disarmament and Far East conference.

Count Ozaki, leader of the disarmament movement in Japan, declared today that Japan should take part in the disarmament conference.

"We have everything to gain from such a movement," said Count Ozaki. "I think it is a mistake, however, to invite China."

KINGSTON'S SAVINGS BANKS HOLD $1,329,616 MORE THAN A YEAR AGO

Showing That Those Who Earn and Save in Kingston are Still in a Prosperous Condition and Have Not Forgotten Their Habit of Thrift.

Figures compiled from reports of the three savings banks in this city show that the total deposits July 1, 1921, are $1,329,616.97 greater than the total deposits on July 1, 1920. The increase is pretty evenly distributed, pro rata, among the banks and shows that Kingston people have not given up their habits of saving and are still prospering. Savings bank deposits are not made by the wealthy, but by those in moderate circumstances who earn and save on a comparatively small scale.

OBREGON FIRM TOWARD REVOLT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Mexico City, July 16.—President Obregon is not apprehensive over the revolutionary situation in the Tampico district. He declared today that the government is sufficiently strong to put down the movement.

The president was asked if he had any evidence that American oil men were behind the uprising, but he replied that an investigation is already under way and that he didn't know what it had uncovered.

The rebels at Tampico were led by Gen. Herrera. President Obregon said he had full confidence in the integrity of Gen. Pelaez, who was Herrera's superior. Before the uprising General Pelaez had reported to Mexico City that revolutionary agitators were active in the oil fields.

"On the whole, conditions throughout the republic are excellent," said President Obregon. "The only trouble of a revolutionary nature is at Tampico and we are certain that order will soon be restored. Despite the agitations of oil companies the government does not intend to change its policy. We are working for order and rehabilitation. The extra oil tax on exports will not be abrogated."

"The oil interests were responsible," said the minister. "They have been working against the interests of Mexico for some time."

ALBANY GETS CHEAPER GAS

The price of gas in Albany has been reduced by the Municipal Gas Company and householders who have been paying $1.50 per 1,000 feet will after August 20, pay only $1.35 per 1,000.

The company has made this rate for the first 25,000 feet of gas consumed and from that up until 50,000 the rate will be $1.25 per 1,000. From 50,000 up the rate is $1.20. The minimum charge is seventy-five cents per month.

The reason for the reduction is the drop in the price of gas oil. The company has been paying 11% cents but after August 1, a new contract at 7 cents a gallon will go into effect. The company has oil enough on hand to last until some time in September, therefore the reduction will not go into effect on the first of August.

The contract made by the company is for one year so residents of Albany are sure of a reasonable rate for at least that length of time.

SLIDE NARROWS PANAMA CANAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Balboa, Panama, Canal Zone, July 16.—A landslide in the Culobra Cut partially blocked the Panama Canal today. The eastern and central parts of the waterway were obstructed but a channel 166 feet wide and 30 feet deep was left open along the western bank. Navigation will not be impeded except in case of the very largest ships. Breakers are already at work and it is expected that the canal will be cleared in about ten days.

The battleships which are enroute from New York for Peru to take part in a national celebration were not delayed.

NATIONAL BONUS ONLY SLEEPING

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, July 16.—Vigorous denial was made by Republican leaders of the senate today that the soldiers' bonus bill is "dead" because of the action of the Republican majority in sending it back to the senate finance committee.

Senator Penrose, Republican, of Pennsylvania, the committee chairman, insisted that the measure would be taken up by his committee again when a "suitable opportunity" to do so presents itself. When that will be, no one professes to know or will hazard a guess.

It is the opinion of other Republican senators that the bill will be rewritten if the senate is ever called upon to pass it. It is conceded that it will rest in the Penrose committee until after the present session, as the senate will be pressed to enact taxes tariff legislation before the regular session begins in December.

"The debate which preceded the re-commitment of the bill was almost exclusively confined to the Democratic minority," Penrose said. "Democratic senators who professed to be ardent supporters of it were manifestly imbued by a desire to play partisan politics. They did not fool themselves or the country."

"Most Republican senators ignored the Democratic utterances and responded with great unanimity to the president's request that the bill be re-committed for further consideration."

"Everybody concedes the debt of gratitude we all owe the valiant survivors of the world war, and above all, the widows and orphans of those who fell in battle. As after the Civil War, so now and in the future will our war veterans and their dependents continue to enlist our solicitude and care. It is no exaggeration to say that every senator who voted to recommit the bill sincerely favored some legislation in the direction taken by it. Of course, the bill is certain to be taken up when a suitable opportunity for doing so presents itself."

LEAGUE LEADERS PRAISE HARDING

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, July 16.—President Harding's move towards world disarmament was highly praised today when the league of nations disarmament commission met here. Speakers united in lauding the initiative of the American executive in his attempt to end wars.

The commission decided to create a mixed committee of military men and civilians to gather political and statistical data in the various countries. Figures will be compiled showing the size of military and naval establishments in 1914 and at the present time.

M. Viviani recalled that the disarmament commission was created to assist in the execution of the peace treaty. He reminded the delegates that they had not met to discuss national problems but world matters.

"I believe that we can render important service to humanity," added M. Viviani. "I am happy to recall the generous and noble initiative of President Harding. I am not surprised that this great power (America) which so often actuated the question of disarmament, should take this step to unite the governments in a disarmament conference. We are sure our work cannot escape their attention. We will bring to them some solution of the difficult problems."

Other delegates spoke in the same vein, praising President Harding.

British General Leaves It Would Help America.

Manchester, England, July 16.—General Sir Ian Hamilton, who accompanied Kuroki's army during the Russo-Japanese war, in a speech here today urged Great Britain to seek to bring military alliance with Japan to a head.

The speaker opposed the disarmament conference saying:

"We have been invited to a conference in which our position would be like that of the cat with a half a dozen snakes all vying to pull the chestnuts from the fire."

On the application of Ezekiel O. Rose, Vincent A. Gorman and Albert E. Rose, co-partners doing business under the firm name and style of Rose-Gorman-Rose, Judge Hasbrouck has granted an injunction restraining Herbert Carl from holding in or in connection with the millinery department now conducted by him in the Rose-Gorman-Rose store any "left over" sales at "rummage" sale prices.

Mr. Carl also is enjoined and restrained from using the name "Herbert Carl," "Carl's," "Carl's Millinery Department" or "Carl's Millinery" in connection with any business prosecuted by him in the premises at No. 334 Wall street or elsewhere except in connection with the millinery department now maintained by him in the millinery establishment of the plaintiffs, in the Rose-Gorman-Rose store.

The injunction order and the accompanying affidavits and exhibits on which Judge Hasbrouck granted the injunction order were filed in the county clerk's office this morning. John T. Loughran is attorney for the plaintiffs.

The papers in the action, which is brought by the three co-partners against Mr. Carl, show that previous to November 11, 1912, the Herbert Carl Dry Goods Company was a domestic corporation conducting a general dry goods business, including a millinery department, in this city. The Herbert Carl Dry Goods Company at that time had an authorized capitalization of six hundred shares of common stock which were owned by Mr. Carl and four hundred shares of preferred stock of which two shares were outstanding. On November 11, 1912, Mr. Carl entered into an agreement to sell to Albert E. Rose the six hundred shares of common stock and the two outstanding shares of preferred stock.

This agreement among other things provided that Mr. Rose should execute a lease to Mr. Carl of that portion of the store property which Mr. Rose was buying which was known as the millinery department, for a term of ten years at a rental of $1,500 a year. Mr. Carl also being furnished with light and heat.

Rose agreed to secure from the Herbert Carl Dry Goods Company an agreement that that company or its successors would not engage during the term of the lease in the sale of millinery or carry on the millinery business or conduct a business which should be in opposition to the millinery business to be carried on by Mr. Carl under his lease.

Herbert Carl, under the same agreement, covenanted and agreed to assign to Mr. Rose all rights assignable by him in and to the name "Herbert Carl Dry Goods Company," "The Colonial," "Colonial" or any other names he had used in connection with advertisement of his business except that he was to be at liberty to use the name "Herbert Carl" or "Carl's" in connection with the millinery business to be conducted by him under the lease from Mr. Rose.

The actual lease of the millinery department for a term of ten years was executed December 10, 1912, an agreement bearing the same date contained the same agreements which were incorporated in the agreement of the month previous. Mr. Carl agreeing not to use the name "Herbert Carl" or "Carl's" in connection with any department conducted by the Herbert Carl Dry Goods Company except in connection with the millinery business to be conducted by him under the lease between himself and Ezekiel O. Rose, Mr. Carl further agreed that for a period of five years he would not engage either directly or indirectly as principal or employee or become interested financially in any business conducted by the Herbert Carl Dry Goods Company except the millinery business.

The corporate name of the Herbert Carl Dry Goods Company was changed to Rose-Gorman-Rose, Inc., on June 13, 1914, and on May 15, 1915, Rose-Gorman-Rose, Inc., transferred its assets and property to the plaintiffs, the Messrs. Rose and Mr. Gorman.

The complaint in the action against Mr. Carl alleges that "Notwithstanding his agreements and covenants aforesaid and maliciously, wrongfully and with intent to injure and destroy the business established by the plaintiffs under said agreements, the defendant has since on or about the 1st day of July, 1921, ceased to maintain and conduct the millinery department leased to him in the business establishment of the plaintiffs in the manner in which he had heretofore conducted the same in accordance with the terms and conditions of said agreement as aforesaid, and has removed and transferred said department out of the business establishment of the plaintiffs and into the store and premises, No. 334 Wall street, Kingston, New York, and directly across the street from the business establishment of the plaintiffs, and has removed his stock in trade from said department in the business establishment of the plaintiffs to said store and premises across the street, and now keeps in said department in the business establishment of the plaintiffs for sale therein brands and grades of millinery of a quality and kind much cheaper than and inferior to the brands and grades of millinery heretofore sold by him there, and has announced in the newspaper press of the city of Kingston, New York, his intention to hold 'left over' sales at 'rummage' prices in the millinery department leased to him and heretofore maintained and conducted by him in the business establishment of the plaintiffs aforesaid."

Notwithstanding his agreements, not to use the name "Herbert Carl" or "Carl's" in connection with any line, branch or department of business carried on by the Herbert Carl Dry Goods Company at the time of the agreement and lease except in connection with the millinery department which he leased in the establishment of the plaintiffs, it is pointed out that he is conducting business at 334 Wall street under the name and styles of "Carl's Millinery" and "Carl's Millinery Department."

The maintenance and conduct of a high grade millinery department in the general business establishment of the plaintiffs is most important to the general success of their business, it is pointed out in the complaint; that the maintenance and conduct of a millinery business such as Mr. Carl is now prosecuting and intends to maintain and conduct in the millinery department of their business establishment inevitably leads to lower the tone and repute of their business; and to cause their custom to lose confidence in them and generally to lessen the sales in all other departments of their business; that there is no separate entrance to the millinery department conducted by Mr. Carl in the Rose-Gorman-Rose store but it is entered from the main store, and that the custom of the plaintiffs will necessarily regard the cheap and inferior grade and quality of millinery now displayed by Mr. Carl therein as representative of the sort of merchandise generally dealt in by them, when in truth and fact the plaintiffs in all other departments of their business sell and deal in only the highest grades, kinds and qualities of merchandise.

London, July 16.—Leading members of the cabinet of the Ulster government arrived here today in response to a summons from Sir James Craig, the North Ireland Premier, and immediately took under consideration the Sinn Fein peace proposals that had been communicated to Premier Lloyd George by Eamonn de Valera, "President of the Irish republic."

It was admitted that there may be some hitch if the Unionists are obdurate against accepting de Valera's conditions, but it was reported that Lloyd George was ready to "use more than persuasion" on the Unionists to prevent them from breaking up the peace negotiations.

Officials believe it is unlikely that Sir James Craig will meet the premier again on Monday when the latter renews his peace conversations with de Valera.

The Chronicle believes that the conversations between Premier Lloyd George and de Valera will be continued Monday and Tuesday and possibly Wednesday. De Valera, according to the Chronicle, will probably return to Dublin about the middle of next week to obtain the consent of Dail Eireann (the Sinn Fein parliament) before meeting Sir James Craig. If Dail Eireann consents then the scene will be set for a general parley with de Valera and his colleagues representing the republicans.

AYOR REPLIES TO "KNICK" COMMENT

Albany Paper Replies Such Opinions are Generally Fruit of Foolish Hysteria—Vital Word in Albany Paper's Text of Ordinance That Isn't in Official Copy.

The Albany Knickerbocker Press this morning prints a letter from Mayor Canfield of Kingston explaining his "muzzling" ordinance which is the subject of a scorching editorial in that paper some time ago. The explanation is substantially the same as the one printed in The Freeman some days ago and the Knickerbocker Press comments on it editorially as follows:

THE KINGSTON ORDINANCE.

From the letter of Mayor Canfield, Jr. mayor of Kingston, published elsewhere on this page, it may be seen that the Kingston executive is not in agreement with the criticism of the Knickerbocker Press of his ordinance for the control by him of all public utterances and demonstrations within the city limits.

So far as the Kingston ordinance directed against parade or meetings in the streets or parks, Mayor Canfield may recall that its commission upon it. The Knickerbocker Press conceded that government has the right to regulate the use of streets wholly within its control—does wholly within its control—is that the constitutional guarantee of free speech does not prevent the authorities from saying what they please at meetings or demonstrations held in the streets or in government buildings. But the mayor is further that the ordinance has no application to any indoor meetings or assemblies. If that is the fact, it falls considerably short of the meaning which a fair construction of its terms would seem to indicate.

Here is what is said to be the meaning of the ordinance:

"No person shall participate in any parade, gathering, assembly or demonstration, or on any street, square, park or other public place—within the city to which the public are invited to have access, which parade, gathering, assembly or demonstration has not been authorized by a written permit from the mayor."

"No person shall make or deliver a speech or address in any public place or at any public gathering or assembly within the city, without the written permit from the mayor, who may, in his exercise of his power, grant or refuse such permit, and who shall have authority to impose such terms and conditions in connection with any such permit as he shall deem to be advisable for the public peace and safety."

Is Mayor Canfield, perhaps, of the opinion that only those "assemblies" which take place out of doors are "public"? And where does he stand upon the question of "constructive intent"—that is, the theory that words can be punished for their evil effects, but for their supposed evil tendencies?

Admitting that the abuses of the right of free speech are justly punishable, is Mayor Canfield entirely without of the constitutionality of an attempt to prevent them, rather than to punish them—and that in violation of their utterance? If he is thus confident, he has more knowledge than is possessed by the leading authorities upon the Constitution, for most of them say that that is a very uncertain point.

Common people, who believe that there is already law enough to punish improper language and who can see all about them the folly of leaving the right of free speech to the mercy of local officials will not take much stock in the Kingston ordinance. Similar ordinances elsewhere are no argument in its behalf—quite the contrary. Such ordinances are in general the fruit of a particularly foolish hysteria. They do not fit in with true Americanism.

In the text of the ordinance as furnished to the Knickerbocker Press the word has been inserted which does not appear in the official version published in the Kingston papers. The Knickerbocker Press quotes Section Three as follows: "No person shall make or deliver a speech or address in any public place within the city."

A large gathering heard Mr. Walter N. Weston last night on the subject "Yourself." It was a splendid lecture, Mr. Weston being a very forceful and convincing speaker. Mr. Weston will be heard on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock on "Intuition."

On Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, Charles B. Barnes of New York city will be the speaker. During the war Mr. Barnes was organizer of the labor bureau of cities throughout the United States. He was also at the same time, head of the New York state employment bureau. At the close of the war, he was interested in the employment of disabled soldiers. In fact he has been connected with the solution of many national problems.

It is regretted that Miss Villa Faulkner Page will be unable to be at Kingston this summer. Mr. Weston will lecture at several sessions next week. There will be an entertainment on Wednesday evening.

Classes will be held at 11 a. m. every day except Saturdays. At the evening sessions there will be excellent music as usual.

HEMMING KILLED

Because Austrian Thought He In-sulted Girl.

New York, July 16.—Devotion of an Austrian caretaker to a little thirteen year old girl whom he considered his real mother, behind the double tragedy at Northport, Long Island, in which Frank Eberhardt shot and killed Henry Glover Hemming, New York broker, and then killed himself, according to officials today.

Mrs. Helen Henderson Hemming, mother of little Helen Henderson, was separated from her husband thirteen days after their marriage, and it was Hemming's attempt to enter his wife's Long Island home and effect a reconciliation which led to the shooting. She believes that Eberhardt's year old grudge against Hemming for remarks he had made about her daughter to be the cause of the shooting.

Welcome, Cool Weather.

After two weeks of unusually hot humid weather the showers of Friday brought relief from the heat and humidity. The thermometer located in the south door of the sheriff's office in the court house, one of the coolest spots in the city where a breeze usually may be found even on the hottest day, at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon registered 56 degrees. Friday afternoon at the same hour it registered 72 degrees, a drop of 14 degrees.

Antient Almanacs.

The clog almanac, once in common use in parts of England, is a square stick, on the four edges of which are cut notches to represent the days of the week and various symbols to indicate different festivals and holidays. More ancient than clog almanacs are the Scandinavian runic calendars, made of wood, or sometimes of horn or bone, and inscribed with runic letters.

At a meeting of Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion, held Friday evening at the armory, delegates to the county convention were elected. The convention will be held in August. The following delegates were elected: James F. Loughran, Dr. William J. Cranston, Edward Geschwinder, Robert G. Groves, Eugene B. Carey, Dr. Fred Snyder, Bernard V. Roach, Herman I. DuBois, A. R. Leighton, F. L. Meagher, William G. Newkirk, R. C. Duns. Alternates were elected as follows: William R. Kraft, Stanley Matthews, Charles T. Dixon, Dr. Fred Holcomb and Matthew F. Bence.

ASSAULTED NIGHT WATCHMAN DIES

Albert W. Lewis died at his home 226 Wall street, Friday afternoon in the seventy-second year of his age. He is survived by his wife. The funeral will be held from the residence Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The interment will be in Wiltwyck cemetery. Mr. Lewis who was a nightwatchman and janitor at the large department store of Rose-Gorman-Rose, North Front street, died on the morning of April 8, was found unconscious on the floor in the lower basement of the store, lying at the foot of the stairway by one of the early arriving salesmen. Mr. Lewis had a deep cut in his head and one ear was nearly severed and there was a pool of blood on the cellar bottom and clots of blood on one end of a heavy iron shaker used to shake the grate of the furnace utilized to furnish heat for the store. He was taken to the City of Kingston Hospital, where he remained several weeks and was taken to his home, but never fully recovered. He never was able to tell what happened him. There was a pane of glass broken out of a door that opened into the basement but the broken glass on the outside and the bar that was across the door in the inside was in its place, and as there were no footprints in the dirt outside of the door the police were unable to conclude that an entrance had been effected to the store that way. The general opinion has been that Mr. Lewis had been assaulted by some unknown party with a heavy iron shaker that had the clots of blood on one end, the shaker when found standing on end against and behind a brick pillar some distance from where Mr. Lewis was found unconscious, and that the one who assaulted him had become frightened after the alleged assault had made a hasty escape.

ASK REMOVAL

Of Highway Superintendent—May Appeal To State Commission.

The power to remove incompetent town superintendents of highways, which heretofore has been vested in town boards, was given to the state commissioner of highways under a law passed by the last legislature and approved by Governor Miller. Residents of the town of Roscoe, Sullivan county, presented a petition to the town board of that town for the removal of Superintendent John R. Baldwin because of failure to carry on certain repair work. The town board declined to recognize the demand. The petitioners have the right to take the matter to the state commissioner of highways.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JULY 16, 1921.

 CHURCHES AND LAWS.

There can be no temporizing with wrong on the part of any good man or woman and least of all by the church. That doctrine has been preached from every church in Kingston since the establishment of the first church here more than two hundred and sixty years ago. The church cannot afford to countenance wrongdoing, much less to do wrong.

Today there became effective in this city an ordinance which states that "No person shall participate in any parade, gathering, assemblage or demonstration upon any street, square, park or other place within the city to which the public are invited or have access, which parade, gathering, assemblage or demonstration has not been authorized by a written permit from the mayor."

Ignorance of the law excuses no one. The churches of Kingston are not ignorant of this law, because The Freeman has called attention to it daily since the day the ordinance was first published. Do they intend to apply for "a written permit from the mayor" before they hold services on Sunday?

There is another provision of the same ordinance which says that "No person shall make or deliver a speech or address in any public place or at any public gathering or assemblage within the city, without a written permit from the mayor, who may, in the exercise of his discretion grant or refuse such permit and who shall have authority to impose such terms and conditions in connection with any such permit as he shall deem to be advisable for the public peace and safety."

The mayor says the ordinance "has no application to churches or any indoor meetings or assemblages." As between the statement of the mayor and the language of the law itself, what do the church members and their pastors think the law says and means. They are to be guided by what the law says and means and not by any statement as to whether it is to be enforced against churches "or any indoor meetings or assemblages." If in doubt, it is an easy matter for any church member to ask some lawyer who is a member of the church. Every congregation in Kingston has at least one lawyer in its membership.

If there has been complaint that churches have been insincere, now is their opportunity to show their sincerity, to show they do not place themselves above the law but are willing to subject themselves to a lawful authority. If they follow any other course, how can they expect to achieve success in urging strict and stringent enforcement of other laws? If the churches are willing to overlook a violation of Mayor Canfield's latest law, how can they expect the public strictly to obey, for instance, the Eighteenth Amendment, the Volstead Act or the Mullan-Gage Laws?

What will the churches do?
What will the mayor do?
What will the public think and do?
What about the man or woman with a conscience?

THE AMERICAN BONAPARTES.

The recent death of ex-Secretary Bonaparte recalls a century-old romance in high life of which Baltimore was the scene. Mr. Bonaparte, a distinguished lawyer and statesman who became the head of the navy under President Roosevelt, was the grandson of Jerome Bonaparte, younger brother of the great Napoleon. Jerome Bonaparte came to this country in 1803 as a young French naval officer only 18 years of age. In Baltimore he fell in love with the beautiful Elizabeth Patterson, aged eighteen. They were duly married, but their happiness was short, for Napoleon had made and insisted on more ambitious plans for his brother.

Jerome Bonaparte took his young American bride to Europe, but he failed to secure recognition for her as his wife. Napoleon refused to receive her and even issued an order excluding her from all the dominions. The marriage was annulled by imperial decree and the unhappy young woman returned to Baltimore.

By order of Napoleon, Jerome Bonaparte married Princess Catherine of Wuertemberg and in 1807 was made King of Westphalia. He returned to his native country in the second empire, became a marshal of France and president of the senate, dying in 1860. The beautiful American girl whom he had loved in his youth lived until 1879. In Baltimore, where she was known as Mme. Bonaparte, she remained to the end a figure of dignity and distinction. Her grandson, who died recently, inherited neither the towering abilities nor the grave defects of character which distinguished his great-uncle, the Emperor Napoleon.

CORP. WATZKA'S BODY ARRIVES

Funeral of Valiant East Kingston Soldier Will Be Held Monday Morning—Was Active in Athletic and Social Life.

CORPORAL WILLIAM P. WATZKA.

The body of Corporal William P. Watzka arrived in this city on the 9:53 West Shore train Friday evening. Corporal Watzka was the son of Margaret and the late Joseph Watzka of East Kingston. Funeral will be held from the late home at 9 o'clock Monday morning and from St. Colman's Church at 9:30 o'clock, where a requiem Mass will be celebrated for the repose of his soul. Interment in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery.

Today the flags of East Kingston are displayed at half mast to mourn the death of its hero, Corporal William Patrick Watzka, reported by the War Department as having been killed in action on August 14th for the freedom of nations.

Corporal Watzka was a noble character. He was straightforward in all his dealings, of whatever nature, with young and old of both sexes. His unselfish and genial disposition; his undying spirit and honesty ran exceedingly high. He was a young man of lofty ideals, deeply devoted to his widowed mother and four brothers, one of whom is a drafted man in the cause of democracy.

His traits were those of a natural born soldier; his athletic skill (being a base ball player of no mean dexterity), and his undaunted nerve to do or die must have been exemplified on the field of battle where he fell a valiant and true son of liberty, and not without rendering good account of himself.

He was ever attentive to his religious duties and was a member of St. Colman's Church, East Kingston, where, out of all the young men of that parish, he was the only one to receive communion regularly the first Friday of each month in honor of the Sacred Heart of Jesus. It is known that on board ship of his way overseas he also received communion which clearly expresses his deep religious nature. A member of St. Colman's Dramatic Circle, he took part in many recent plays held for church benefits. He was most enthusiastic to have anything he was interested in achieve success, and was a close friend of Rev. Francis P. J. Cummings. He was a good mixer socially, and well beloved of all his acquaintances, who greatly regret his loss.

Mrs. Joseph Watzka, the boy's mother, is proud of the splendid record of her cherished son, who won distinction for valor and bravery on the field, winning for him the title of corporal. Had not his life ended so suddenly, it is certain that he would have attained a much higher rank in the service. It is felt that he will be a real loss to his regiment, because his patriotism was exceptional on account of his fearlessness and devotion to duty.

PRODS KINGSTON IN SORE SPOT

Why The Timidity, Inaction and Lack of Civic Pride About Giving Senate House Real Park, Asks One Who Seems Familiar With Subject.

Editor, The Freeman

Summer visitors to Kingston are amazed when they learn that the state of New York for many years has had opportunity to buy the property on North Front and Fair streets, adjoining the historic old Senate House and its puny "park," and that the failure to take appropriate action and to secure results is due entirely to lack of civic pride.

"What other place in the world would allow such a thing to happen?" is the question which involuntarily escapes from the numerous tourists who pass through Kingston, and ninety-five out of every hundred follow up the inquiry by questions in regard to the citizens of whom action might have been expected.

The construction of a park on the major part of the property needed to make a park of symmetrical proportions is not proceeding as rapidly as was anticipated by the public when the property was sold some months ago. Visitors, including a number of men who have had experience of at least state-wide proportions in law, legislation and practical politics, express the opinion that the state might yet acquire the property without paying an enormous figure, the market value of the land having been definitely established by the sale from Frederick Gallagher to John D. Van Kleeck, the present owner. Local timidity has been shown in the past in regard to getting state officials interested because of the assumption that the state would be compelled to pay "indirect" damages for the businesses conducted and there has been a disinclination to ask the state for such money. That is practically the same theory which caused the county to stop its purchases of property which would have made an appropriate court house lot some years ago. Individuals have paid more for those properties than the price at which they could have been bought by the county.

The men to whom Kingston owes honor for the purchase of the Senate House by the state of New York are dead. If the same spirit which they displayed had been continued, Senate House "park" would be a fact instead of a joke. The only activity displayed since its original purchase by the state resulted in the purchase of a small piece of land adjoining a number of years ago and the installation of a heating plant more recently. There was also marked activity following the death of the late Julius Schoonmaker and the late Benjamin M. Brink, who were custodians for a number of years, in regard to their respective successors.

Governor Hughes, who visited Kingston during the two hundred and sixtieth anniversary celebration in 1908, was greatly impressed by the importance of preserving the old building and, because of the great historical interest which had been aroused throughout the United States in regard to Kingston, in connection with the ceremonies attending the removal of the body of General George Clinton from Washington to Kingston, was in a mood to approve appropriate legislation regarding the Senate House and its "park."

Governor Dix frequently passed through Kingston while he was in office on his way to Yama Farms, and his admiration for the old building was unbounded. Governor Sizer was not in office long enough to become acquainted intimately with Kingston although later he had excellent reason for remembering the city.

During the four years that Governor Whitman was in office, he visited Kingston many times, and often inspected the old Senate House, from the outside at least, and walked through the "park." Like other governors, he was accustomed to make frequent visits to Yama Farms and often lunched quietly in Kingston while on his way there or to Albany.

Governor "Al" Smith expressed himself on several occasions in regard to the preservation of the old Senate House, and wondered why local patriotism and civic pride, of which he had heard Kingstonians boast, had not shown itself in some substantial way for enlargement of the grounds by acquiring the property which is now to be used for garage purposes and the remaining property on North Front and Fair streets needed to make the "park" a credit to the city and state.

Up to date, Governor Miller has not visited Kingston, although he made a campaign speech here last fall while he was a candidate for governor.

Governor Hughes, Governor Whitman and the late Governor David B. Hill more than any other men eminent in state affairs have realized fully the importance of the old Senate House from an historic standpoint. They, like other strangers to Kingston who have a knowledge of American history, have realized how important a step was the beginning of the government of the empire state, and the interest which attaches to the places connected with, of which the old Senate House alone remains.

Because the government of the state practically was started in the old building, its historic importance is greater than Washington's headquarters in Newburgh, or numerous other buildings and sites for which the state appropriates hundreds of thousands of dollars. Newburgh citizens many years ago realized the advantage to the city of having an historic building amid attractive surroundings and leading citizens and legislative representatives accomplished enviable results in the acquisition of the building and a "park" which is worthy of the name and the place. Foremost among the men who worked for Newburgh's interest in this respect was the Odell family, which afterward produced one of the governor of the state and the well-known Dickes family, most of whose sons have been eminent as judges or influential in state political affairs. AIR EXPERTS COST JAPAN HEAVILY

Scores of Highly Paid British Instructors Paid Sums That Add Greatly to Already Huge Budget For E. cient Navy Air Branch Which Is Fast Being Built Up.

Following is the second of a series of three stories giving the results of an investigation of Japan's program of naval aviation expansion. The first outlined a history of Japan's aerial progress with an outline of her future plans. Today's story gives definite figures on her corps of foreign instructors.

(Copyright, 1921, by International News Service.)

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Tokio, June 26, (by special courier to San Francisco, July 15).—The last group of British naval aviation experts who are training Japan's new naval aviation section, arrived in Japan in June, 1921.

Due to the fact that all of the men have come in small groups, and that all are stationed at outlying posts, it is impossible to say the exact number that have arrived, and no definite information is available as to whether or not the last group has finally gotten here. Figures available show that there are fifty-nine naval aviation experts from England here certainly. There are probably more and possibly as many as seventy or eighty.

There is reason to believe that despite announcement each time a group has arrived that it is the last, there are approximately 14 more now en route to Japan.

The new arrivals in each case have, of course, been cordially received by officers of the Japanese navy and have been lodged in the beautiful Kaihin hotel, by the Pacific ocean, at Kamakura. Subsequently some of them have been stationed at other places where they have proceeded in their work of building and of instructing the Japanese navy.

Prior to the time of their arrival, one Frenchman, left over from another commission, whose duties were in aviation only, was here receiving $550 monthly and in addition was given a house and lot free. This man is still in Japan.

This gives some idea of what the British ex-service men may be receiving, but no exact figures on their salaries are available. It is entirely safe to say that the entire budget for building, salaries and other necessary works in connection with this tremendously big undertaking is costing the Japanese government a sum which a few years ago would have seemed utterly impossible.

While it is impossible to tell exactly how many men are stationed here, some idea of the distribution may be had from the following table of arrivals:

Prior to 1921—Four Frenchmen employed by army. Two Germans, Hofeisen and Schevel, employed at Kawasaki, Kobe, building aviation monara.

November, 1920—Twelve British experts known here, sent by British firm of Vickers & Company. Thirty rumored here.

February 15, 1921—Six British experts employed at Oppama, aviation branch of Yokosuka naval yards.

April 23, 1921—Eighteen arrive.

May 9, 1921—Six arrive.

June 3, 1921—Eight arrive.

June 9, 1921—Three arrive.

The list of those who have arrived is announced as 38, but the figures herewith and other public announcements show that there are at least 69 of them and probably nearer 80.

Among the leaders of the British experts, all of them publicly known here are:

Major H. G. Brackley, Mayor B. M. Dodds, Lieutenant Commanders W. H. Eldridge, W. S. Ellis, G. A. Fletcher, Major F. B. Fowler, Sub-Lieut. H. W. Hatfield, Sub-Lieut. A. H. Loton, Lt. Col. C. H. Meares, D. S. Short and Major J. S. Shipley.

Reports thus far indicate that the British instructors, aided by their long experience, will so improve the Japanese imperial navy's aviation section that it will be a formidable war machine long before the desired time, 1923.

Open Air Gospel Service.

Sunday evening, July 17, at 7:30 o'clock an open door gospel service will be held at the Y. M. C. A. building on Pine Grove avenue. The Rev. Dr. Arthur S. Cole will conduct the services. An orchestra will be furnished by the First Presbyterian Church. A large number of seats have been arranged as a large attendance is expected.

Has Various Pronunciations.

There are ten ways of pronouncing "ough." These are, written phonetically, as in bow, cuff, cuff (each is allowable), cuff, cuff, cuff, cuff, cuff, cuff, cuff, cuff.

The untiring and unselfish efforts of these families Newburgh owes much in the way of public improvements. They, however, are not alone among the families who have worked for the public benefit of Newburgh.

The opening of the Rondout creek bridge, one of the most important highway links in the eastern part of the United States, is bound to result in thousands of visitors coming to Kingston. Aside from the matter of good hotel accommodations, which they will have no difficulty in finding in this vicinity, tourists seek out the interesting places which are new to all intelligent readers of history. The most noted of which place is the Senate House which is naturally the only place, already known to most strangers who come to Kingston. It is quite likely that the visitors of the future will be as prominent in state affairs in New York and other states as the visitors who have already inquired about the Senate House and local efforts which have been made to acquire the "park" a public. Meanwhile, the state will continue to buy property in other sections.

It is the romance that ends in frustration—not living happy ever after—that is increasingly written. But we don't want all the novels to finish in that way. It isn't the universal law of life.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

ROTARY TO HAVE A PICNIC

Kingston Rotarians will visit the Maverick, near Woodstock, next Wednesday evening and hold a basket picnic. The speakers will be Harvey White, the original Woodstock Maverick, and Professor Boggs of Columbia University. It will be ladies' night—very essential to a basket picnic, although anyone too lazy to park or carry a basket may procure a good dinner at the Intelligencia, an odd and eccentric restaurant which supplies meals at Y. M. C. A. prices but not in Y. M. C. A. style, as you have to set the table yourself and carry in the food. There will be music by the Maverick orchestra, ranging from the severely classical to the jazziest jazz, and anybody who wants to dance may do so. Those who do not care to dance will not be compelled to and anybody who does not like to hear the music may take a walk a mile or so away and get out of hearing. Auto mobiles will leave the Y. M. C. A. at 5:30 and the Maverick festivities will begin at 6.

STEADY DECLINE IN FACTORY WORK

Usual 2 Per Cent Decrease In Employment From May To June and Reduction Totals 28 Per Cent in Last 15 Months.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, July 16.—June manufacturers' reports, received by the chief statistician of the New York State Department of Labor, show as yet no halt to the decline in activity in the factories of the state. According to the preliminary tabulation of reports from 1,549 representative factories, the decrease in employment in all the manufacturing industries of the state from May to June was again 2 per cent. The total decline in employment during the present depression, which now covers a period of 15 months, amounts to 28 per cent.

Reductions in working forces between May and June were reported in most of the industries of the state. The heaviest reductions again occurred in the metal industries. Some of the clothing industries showed considerable curtailment in production as a result of seasonal inactivity. The decline in employment in the manufacture of chemicals and paper goods continued in June. Further improvement during the month, however, was noted in the majority of the textile industries and in several of the food products industries. In addition there were a number of scattering increases due in some cases to seasonal fluctuations or to the termination of strikes.

The settlement of the strike in the men's clothing industry in New York city was largely responsible for a gain in employment in that industry from May to June, although some of the plants affected still remained idle during the month. In the printing industry a minor gain in working forces in June was likewise chiefly the result of a resumption of work by employees in a few of the plants where strikes prevailed in May. The strike in the paper industry, however, which began in May continued in June.

CLINTON MONUMENT.

When $900 Had Been Subscribed Matter Was Dropped.

On the 30th of July, 1877, forty-four years ago, Kingston celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of the adoption of the first constitution of the state and the inauguration of General George Clinton, the state's first governor, at Kingston on July 29, 1777. There was a monster parade of soldiers, firemen and civic societies from various cities in the morning and speechmaking back of O'Reilly's woods, near where the Benedictine Sanitarium is in the afternoon on what were known afterward as the centennial grounds, and fireworks in the evening. The orations were delivered by Chauncey M. Depew, Justice Theodore Westbrook and General George H. Sharpe. At that time a subscription was started to erect a monument to Governor Clinton on the spot where he took the constitutional oath of office in front of the court house on Wall street, and it was then thought a suitable monument could be erected for $20,000. There was $900 subscribed and there the matter dropped. Since then through the efforts of Chaplain Roswell Randall Hoes and Benjamin M. Brink the monument that was erected over Governor Clinton's grave in the National Cemetery at Washington, D. C., was secured and brought to Kingston May 29, 1908, and placed in the First Reformed Dutch Church yard on Main street. The remains of George Clinton, seven times governor of New York, which were reinterred in the churchyard were brought from Washington by the U. S. war department, lay in state for twenty-four hours in the city hall, New York city, and were given a major general's burial within sight of the spot where one hundred and thirty-one years before he was inaugurated governor.

WHAT OTHERS SAY:

"Nearly every electric light and power company knows that it must expand tremendously in the next four years if it is to keep up with the demand. Figures taken from the Electrical World indicate that the equipment of these companies will have to be nearly doubled; and that means an additional investment not of millions, but of approximately 4 billions of dollars.

"We Can Speak Frankly About This, Having No Axe to Grind"

"Electrical World is not owned by the electric light and power companies. It is an independent property, one of the eleven journals of service published by the McGraw-Hill Company, Inc., New York. It is in a position to speak frankly both to its industry and for its industry.

"It has spoken frankly to the electric light companies for years. It has said: 'Give service; give better and better service; take the public into your confidence all along the line.'

"And what the electric light companies have done is hardly short of miraculous. You seldom stop to think of it. You touch a button and the light goes on, or the motor starts—a light that has been made constantly better and cheaper in the past twenty-five years when everything else was costing so much more; a motor that does the work of a hundred or five hundred men.

"The miracle of that light or motor has become a commonplace part of your life; but it is a miracle none the less.

"The electric light companies have a right to be proud of it; and Electrical World can boast of it, even though the companies do not.

POWER SUPPLY—THE KEY OF PROGRESS

"And now Electrical World turns from its readers to the readers of Collier's; from the men who own and operate the electric lighting companies, to their customers, to YOU and says:

"The time is here when all of us must do well by our electric light and power companies if we want to do well by ourselves.

"Four billions in new capital can come only from the little savings of the many. And the companies must have this new capital or the nation will be stopped in its progress because it has outgrown its power and its lights.

"TAKE A GOOD LOOK AHEAD AT YOUR CITY OR TOWN. IS IT GOING TO MOVE FORWARD SWIFTLY OR STUMBLE AND HALT? THE ANSWER LIES IN THE STEADY GROWTH OF YOUR ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER COMPANY, AS MUCH AS ANYWHERE ELSE. FOR NO CITY MOVES FORWARD UNLESS IT CAN SEE CLEARLY AND HAS ALL OF THE POWER IT CAN USE.

"OUR PUBLIC AND OUR UTILITIES WILL HAVE TO PULL TOGETHER IF EITHER IS TO PROSPER. THEY WILL NOT PROSPER SEPARATELY."

ELECTRICAL WORLD.

The above statement by the Electrical World is, we believe, of sufficient interest to every citizen of Kingston to warrant reproduction here.

"I'M A FLOATER"
FLOATED TO JAIL

Did Not Know Enough to Take Chance to Float Out of Town, and as Result is in Jail—"Kingston is a Good Town," Says He.

"I'm a floater," said Thomas Raymond, 69 years old, when asked where he resided by Judge Schirick in police court this morning.

Raymond is probably the most distinguished looking floater who has floated into the court room in many moons. He is a man of medium height and wears a white coat and mustache, and, dressed in full dress would remind one of the usual photographs of a diplomat, but unfortunately for Raymond he is not diplomatic, as he found to his cost when Judge Schirick sentenced him to ten days in the county jail.

A plasterer by trade he works at odd jobs in various towns floating from job to job around the country. He floated into Kingston Friday afternoon and as it was raining sought refuge in a freight car on the O. & W. tracks, together with Joseph Mulcahey, 1 years old, and at 8:30 o'clock that evening both men were placed under arrest by Officers Martin and "Sime" Wood, who found the pair sound asleep in the freight car. Mulcahey said he was headed for the Shandaken tunnel where he thought he could land a job, and was given half an hour to get out of town. He got.

Raymond in reply to questions by Judge Schirick said that while he had been arrested several times for being drunk he had never served a jail sentence. He waxed eloquent in regard to the lodging houses he had encountered while floating around and said that nine-tenths of them were lousy. "You got to strip down when you go to bed if you don't want to carry anything with you when you leave in the morning," he told the court.

He also said he had two children. One resided somewhere out west and the other in Nyack. He had not communicated with them in some time. "How long will it take you to float out of town if I give you the chance?" asked the court.

"Oh about an hour or half an hour," replied Raymond.

"And do you expect to float back?" asked the court.

"Why not?" questioned Raymond.

"Kingston is a good town,"

"But we don't want you," retorted the court adding "ten days in the county jail."

Which only goes to show that if Raymond had lived up to his appearance as a diplomat he would have been floating many miles from Kingston by this time instead of trying out the county jail as a lodging house.

There were no other cases in police court.

FRENCH DRIFT FROM ENGLISH

British Allegations of Bad Faith Add To Growing Lack of Cordiality—Silesia Cause Of Distrust.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, July 16.—Anglo-French relations are losing their former cordiality. It was admitted in semi-official circles today that the old entente between London and Paris is becoming strained through an accumulation of developments over which the British claim to have ground for grievances.

The alleged French tendency for "underground work" or "secret diplomacy" furnishes one of the principal complaints of British officials.

Apart from the general tendencies of the past twelve months British diplomats make three distinct allegations of bad faith against France:

1.—After the London conference on the Near East, France made a secret agreement with the Turkish Nationalists. At the present time France is negotiating with Benli Sami Bey, the Turkish Nationalist foreign minister, while refusing to give Great Britain any information as to the object of the negotiations.

2.—France withdrew her commission from the War Criminals Court at Leipzig without consulting England or giving any intimation of her intentions.

3.—France "bluffed" the Supreme Council regarding Upper Silesia and is refusing to take measures to restore the Silesian situation.

Officials revealed that the British high commissioner in Upper Silesia has been telegraphing frantically for reinforcements and urgently advising the powers to get together at once for a settlement of the Upper Silesian issue.

The British commission pointed out that the population of Silesia is engaged in harvesting and that it would be a good time to settle the problem while the Upper Silesians are engrossed in their peaceful domestic affairs.

The supreme council was to meet late this month, but the French newspapers print the report that there may be another postponement until August.

CHURCHES AND LAWS.

There can be no temporizing with wrong on the part of any good man or woman and least of all by the church. That doctrine has been preached from every church in Kingston since the establishment of the first church here more than two hundred and sixty years ago. The church cannot afford to countenance wrongdoing, much less to do wrong.

Today there became effective in this city an ordinance which states that "No person shall participate in any parade, gathering, assemblage or demonstration upon any street, square, park OR OTHER PLACE within the city to which the public are invited or have access, which parade, gathering, assemblage or demonstration has not been authorized by a written permit from the mayor."

Ignorance of the law excuses no one. The churches of Kingston are not ignorant of this law, because The Freeman has called attention to it daily since the day the ordinance was first published. Do they intend to apply for a written permit from the mayor before they hold services on Sunday?

There is another provision of the same ordinance which says that "No person shall make or deliver a speech or address in any public place or at any public gathering or assemblage within the city, without a written permit from the mayor, who may, in the exercise of his discretion grant or refuse such permit and who shall have authority to impose such terms and conditions in connection with any such permit as he shall deem to be advisable for the public peace and safety."

The mayor says the ordinance "has no application to churches or any indoor meetings or assemblages." As between the statement of the mayor and the language of the law itself, what do the church members and their pastors think the law says and means. They are to be guided by what the law says and means and not by any statement as to whether it is to be enforced against churches "or any indoor meetings or assemblages." If in doubt, it is an easy matter for any church member to ask some lawyer who is a member of the church. Every congregation in Kingston has at least one lawyer in its membership.

If there has been complaint that churches have been insincere, now is their opportunity to show their sincerity, to show they do not place themselves above the law but are willing to subject themselves to a lawful authority. If they follow any other course, how can they expect to achieve success in urging strict and stringent enforcement of other laws? If the churches are willing to overlook a violation of Mayor Canfield's latest law, how can they expect the public strictly to obey, for instance the Eighteenth Amendment, the Volstead Act or the Mullan-Gage Laws?

What will the churches do?
 What will the mayor do?
 What will the public think and do?
 What about the man or woman with a conscience?

THE AMERICAN BONAPARTES.

The recent death of ex-Secretary Bonaparte recalls a century-old romance in high life of which Baltimore was the scene. Mr. Bonaparte, a distinguished lawyer, and statesman who became the head of the party under President Roosevelt, was the grandson of Jerome Bonaparte, brother of the great Napoleon. Jerome Bonaparte came to this country in 1800 as a young French naval officer only 15 years of age. In Baltimore he fell in love with the beautiful Elizabeth Patterson, aged thirteen. They were duly married, but their happiness was short, for Napoleon had made and insisted on more ambitious plans for his brother.

Jerome Bonaparte took his young American bride to Europe but he failed to secure recognition for her as his wife. Napoleon refused to receive her and even sent an officer to exclude her from all the dinners. The marriage was annulled by imperial decree and the unhappy young woman returned to Baltimore.

By order of Napoleon Jerome Bonaparte married Princess Catherine of Wuertemberg and in 1807 was made King of Westphalia. He returned to his native country in the second empire, became a marshal of France and president of the senate, dying in 1859. The beautiful American girl whom he had loved in his youth lived until 1879 in Baltimore, where she was known as Mme Bonaparte, she remained to the end a figure of dignity and distinction. Her grandson, who died recently, inherited neither the towering abilities nor the grave defects of character which distinguished his great-uncle, the Emperor Napoleon.

CORP. WATZKA'S BODY ARRIVES

Funeral of Valiant East Kingston Soldier Will Be Held Monday Morning—Was Active in Athletic and Social Life.

CORPORAL WILLIAM P. WATZKA.

The body of Corporal William P. Watzka arrived in this city on the 9-53 West Shore train Friday evening. Corporal Watzka was the son of Margaret and the late Joseph Watzka of East Kingston. Funeral will be held from the late home at 9 o'clock Monday morning and from St. Colman's Church at 9:30 o'clock, where a requiem Mass will be celebrated for the repose of his soul. Interment in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery.

 Today the flags of East Kingston are displayed at half mast to mourn the death of its hero, Corporal William Patrick Watzka, reported by the War Department as having been killed in action on August 14th for the freedom of nations.

Corporal Watzka was a noble character. He was straightforward in all his dealings, of whatever nature, with young and old of both sexes. His unselfish and genial disposition, his undying spirit and honesty ran exceedingly high. He was a young man of lofty ideals, deeply devoted to his widowed mother and four brothers, one of whom is a drafted man in the cause of democracy.

His traits were those of a natural born soldier; his athletic skill (being a base ball player of no mean dexterity), and his undaunted nerve to do or die must have been exemplified on the field of battle where he fell a valiant and true son of liberty, and not without rendering good account of himself.

He was ever attentive to his religious duties and was a member of St. Colman's Church, East Kingston, where, out of all the young men of that parish, he was the only one to receive communion regularly the first Friday of each month in honor of the Sacred Heart of Jesus. It is known that on board ship on his way overseas he also received communion which clearly expressed his deep religious faith. A member of St. Colman's Dramatic Circle, he took part in many recent plays held for church benefits. He was most enthusiastic to achieve success, and was a close friend of Rev. Francis P. J. Cummings. He was a good mixer socially, and well beloved of all his acquaintances, who greatly regret his loss.

Mrs. Joseph Watzka, the boy's mother is proud of the splendid record of her cherished son, who won distinction for valor and bravery on the field, winning for him the title of corporal. Had not his life ended so suddenly, it is certain that he would have attained a much higher rank in the service. It is felt that he will be a real loss to his regiment, because his patriotism was exceptional, on account of his fearlessness and devotion to duty.

Spending Made Easy.
 Bring Peter gazed fondly at his latest patent device.
 The invention of a genius it was a spending machine in the shape of an iron hand and arm, holding a rubber slipper. This marvelous machine expended a child according to the magnitude of his offense.

SIGN TOM AND GEORGES TODAY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 16.—Tom Gibbons, St. Paul's flashy heavyweight, will probably be matched with Georges Carpentier, before sundown tonight. Eddie Kane, manager of Gibbons, has conferred with Tex Rickard for more than two hours discussing details of the match. They were scheduled to meet again today and Kane indicated that he expected to sign articles.

Promotor Rickard is undecided regarding the site of the match. He plans to hold it either in his big arena at Jersey City or in Madison Square Garden. He would prefer Jersey City if he could get a line on the weather in early October. Because it is so variable in this part of the country there is no telling what sort of atmosphere will hover over Jersey on Columbus Day.

But Gibbons and Carpentier will meet, somewhere, under Rickard's management, for the world's light heavyweight championship.

HOW HAS THE BALL CHANGED?

(By Sid Mercer).

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 16.—Your Uncle Wilbert Robinson hopped into Yankee headquarters for a chat with his old friend, Col. T. H. Huston. There he encountered a flock of interviewers. It wasn't long until some one cornered him with the query "What's the matter with baseball?" "You can search me," Robinson responded. "I didn't know there was anything wrong until some of the boys began to insist upon it. There may be nothing wrong with baseball but there's something wrong with THE baseball or else pitching has become a lost art."

"Have you noticed how many games run along to the fifth or sixth inning without a score and then, suddenly, the pitching goes blooey? I can't understand it. If it's the lively ball, how do pitchers get by in the early part of the game?"

"A feature of ball games that has impressed me more than anything else is the inability of pitchers, good pitchers, too, to hold fast leads in the late stages."

"The other day Carl Mays blew an eight-run lead over the White Sox. Ordinarily you would bet a million to one that a team like the Sox could not spot a pitcher like Mays that many runs. Pitchers complain about the ball. Whatever is to blame, we know that when a team starts hammering a pitcher, it is a long way to that third out."

"Until this season managers seldom worried when a good pitcher got into trouble as long as he had three or four runs in the bank. Now it is different. The minute a fly starts out go the reserves to warm up."

Managers hate to show lack of confidence in a good pitcher. For this reason many of them are permitted to stay in there and take their beatings.

CHURCHMEN PLAY BALL.

Bang Out 38 Hits For 33 Runs at Comforter Picnic.

The picnic of the Church of the Comforter at Forsyth Park on Thursday was a decided success, particularly a fast ball game when Budington's "Tigers" defeated Schryver's "Hot Dogs" in a fast and exciting ten inning game by the score of 17 to 16. The Tigers fought an uphill game, coming from behind in the eighth and ninth innings. With the score 16 to 12 against them they filled the bases and tied the score on E. Ritch's long home run drive, his only hit of the game, and in the tenth proceeded to win on two two-baggers by Elmendorf and Conklin. Features of the game were the star pitching of "Babe Ruth" Schryver, who relieved Brown in the sixth after the Tigers scored eight runs. In the seventh he retired the side on strikes. The hitting and base running of Leroy and Carpenter were remarkable, each getting four hits and stealing three bases.

Bobby Carpenter had eight putouts. For the Tigers, Conklin and Elmendorf starred in the field, making many dazzling stops, as well as three double plays, one of which in the tenth cut off two runs after the "Hot Dogs" threatened a winning rally. Captain Budington's pitching was excellent, striking out Brown and A. Ritch every time they came to bat. K. Haines hit two high fouls. "Skeets" Myer's merciless umpiring was the big feature of the game. The score:

The National League was under a wet blanket all day.
The Red Sox won a pitching duel from the Indians. Pennock and Russell did the twirling for the winners.

Sheely and Johnson pulled off a triply play against the Senators and Dickie Kerr won his first extra-inning game since coming to the American League.

The Athletics took the last game of their series with Detroit for an even split. Timely hitting decided the contest though Damm pitched good ball for the losers.

Eastern States Exposition.

Springfield, Mass., July 16.—Cash prizes totaling $80,076 will be awarded at the Eastern States Exposition, Sept. 18 to 24, according to the official premium list which will be distributed from the Worthington street office to more than 15,000 persons this week. Anticipating increases in business and manufacturing this fall the management has enlarged the premiums by several thousand dollars over last year.

BIG BALL SERIES BEGINS TODAY

Giants on Home Grounds Will Try to Drag Pirates Out of Lead—Yankees in Same Kind of Effort at Cleveland.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 16.—There's going to be something of a ruckus up in Harlem during the next few days.

It will be staged by those Parade-leader Pittsburgh Pirates and the Men O' McGraw, and it may develop anything from an earthquake to a catastrophe.

The leadership of the National League is the plum for which the Giants and Corsairs will struggle and outcome of the series will have an important bearing on the race.

George "Mooney" Gibson led his fightin' Buccaneers into town today from Philadelphia. They came from Quakerville heading a lead of three games over the second place New Yorkers who hope to grind it into atoms and move into first place themselves.

The Giants are primed for this series, which is by far the most important of the National League season to date. McGraw has Bill Ryan, his sensational youngster, going at top speed and Artie Nehf and Jesse Barnes have been pitching great ball of late. The addition of Casey Stengel and Johnny Rawlings to the Giants lineup has also added power to the McGraw machine.

Trimming Pittsburgh, however, will be no easy assignment. Earlier in the season the Giants managed to do it, having won four of six games played by the two teams to date, but Mr. Gibson's outfit is playing much better ball today.

Gibson has Cooper, his great south-paw; Glazner, Morrison and Yellow-horse, his trio of crack youngsters, and Hamilton, Carlson and Adams, not to mention Zinn, to do the hurling against McGraw's pitching aces.

In order to do the Pirates much harm the Giants will have to sweep the series. An even break would be, in a sense, a Pirate victory for if Gibson's lads can go back to Pittsburgh still clinging to the lead they will be well fixed to build onto it.

In the series starting at the Polo grounds today and the one which opens in Boston next Wednesday, Pittsburgh faces the toughest part of the eastern trip.

The fashion in which those astonishing Boston Braves have been stepping along during the last two weeks has given both Gibson and McGraw much food for worrisome thought, and the Buccos must stop Boston as well as the Giants if they are to hold the advantage they now enjoy. A good many baseball critics are just convinced now that the team that beats Boston out will win the gonfalon.

The race in the American League has nothing very interesting to offer over this week end or the first of next week, but on Wednesday there should be some fireworks worth while watching, when the Yankees march into Cleveland where they will attempt to drag the Indians off the top rung of the percentage ladder. Huggins' boys whipped up in St. Louis—in Huggins' absence, too—and they will invade Cleveland very cocky and full of light.

STEADY DECLINE IN FACTORY WORK

Usual 2 Per Cent Decrease in Employment From May To June and Reduction Totals 28 Per Cent in Last 15 Months.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, July 16.—June manufacturers' reports, received by the chief statistician of the New York State Department of Labor, show as yet no halt to the decline in activity in the factories of the state. According to the preliminary tabulation of reports from 1,540 representative factories, the decrease in employment in all the manufacturing industries of the state from May to June was again 2 per cent. The total decline in employment during the present depression, which now covers a period of 15 months, amounts to 28 per cent.

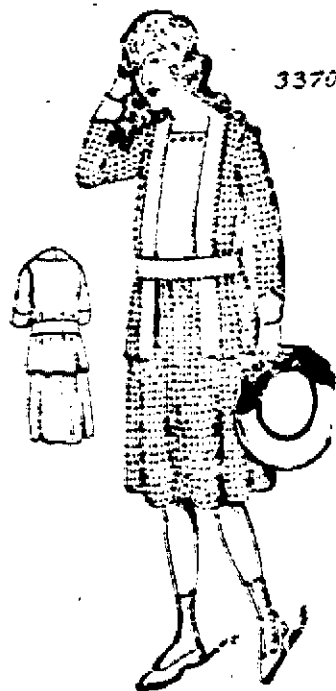

Reductions in working forces between May and June were reported in most of the industries of the state. The heaviest reductions again occurred in the metal industries. Some of the clothing industries showed considerable curtailment in production as a result of seasonal inactivity. The decline in employment in the manufacture of chemicals and paper goods continued in June. Further improvement during the month, however, was noted in the majority of the textile industries and in several of the food products industries. In addition there were a number of scattering increases, due in some cases to seasonal fluctuations or to the termination of strikes.

The settlement of the strike in the men's clothing industry in New York city was largely responsible for a gain in employment in that industry from May to June, although some of the plants affected still remained idle during the month. In the printing industry a minor gain in working forces in June was likewise chiefly the result of a resumption of work by employees in a few of the plants where strikes prevailed in May. The strike in the paper industry, however, which began in May continued in June.

CLINTON MONUMENT.

When $300 Had Been Subscribed Matter Was Dropped.

On the 30th of July, 1877, forty-four years ago, Kingston celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of the adoption of the first constitution of the state, and the inauguration of General George Clinton, the state's first governor, at Kingston on July 20, 1777. There was a monster parade of soldiers, firemen and civic societies from various cities in the morning and speechmaking, back of O'Reilly's woods near where the Benedictine Sanitarium is in the afternoon on what were known afterward as the centennial grounds, and fireworks in the evening. The orations were delivered by Chauncey M. Depew, Justice Theodore Westbrook and General George H. Sharpe. At that time a subscription was started to erect a monument to Governor Clinton on the spot where he took the constitutional oath of office in front of the court house on Wall street, and it was then thought a suitable monument could be erected for $30,000. There was $200 subscribed and there the matter dropped. Since then through the efforts of Chaplain Roswell Randall Hoes and Benjamin M. Brink the monument that was erected over Governor Clinton's grave in the National Cemetery at Washington, D. C., was secured and brought to Kingston May 30, 1908, and placed in the First Reformed Dutch Church yard on Main street. The remains of George Clinton, seven times governor of New York, which were reinterred in the churchyard were brought from Washington by the U. S. war department, lay in state for twenty-four hours in the city hall, New York city, and were given a major general's burial within sight of the spot where one hundred and thirty-one years before he was inaugurated governor.

WHAT OTHERS SAY:

"Nearly every electric light and power company knows that it must expand tremendously in the next four years if it is to keep up with the demand. Figures taken from the Electrical World indicate that the equipment of these companies will have to be nearly doubled; and that means an additional investment not of millions, but of approximately 4 billions of dollars.

"We Can Speak Frankly About This, Having No Axe to Grind"

"Electrical World is not owned by the electric light and power companies. It is an independent property, one of the eleven journals of service published by the McGraw-Hill Company, Inc., New York. It is in a position to speak frankly both to its industry and for its industry.

"It has spoken frankly to the electric light companies for years. It has said: 'Give service; give better and better service; take the public into your confidence all along the line.'

"And what the electric light companies have done is hardly short of miraculous. You seldom stop to think of it. You touch a button and the light goes on, or the motor starts—a light that has been made constantly better and cheaper in the past twenty-five years when everything else was costing so much more; a motor that does the work of a hundred or five hundred men.

"The miracle of that light or motor has become a commonplace part of your life; but it is a miracle none the less.

"The electric light companies have a right to be proud of it; and Electrical World can boast of it, even though the companies do not.

POWER SUPPLY—THE KEY OF PROGRESS

"And now Electrical World turns from its readers to the readers of Collier's; from the men who own and operate the electric lighting companies, to their customers, to YOU and says:

"The time is here when all of us must do well by our electric light and power companies if we want to do well by ourselves.

"Four billions in new capital can come only from the little savings of the many. And the companies must have this new capital or the nation will be stopped in its progress because it has outgrown its power and its lights.

"TAKE A GOOD LOOK AHEAD AT YOUR CITY OR TOWN. IS IT GOING TO MOVE FORWARD SWIFTLY OR STUMBLE AND HALT? THE ANSWER LIES IN THE STEADY GROWTH OF YOUR ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER COMPANY, AS MUCH AS ANYWHERE ELSE. FOR NO CITY MOVES FORWARD UNLESS IT CAN SEE CLEARLY AND HAS ALL OF THE POWER IT CAN USE.

"OUR PUBLIC AND OUR UTILITIES WILL HAVE TO PULL TOGETHER IF EITHER IS TO PROSPER. THEY WILL NOT PROSPER SEPARATELY."

ELECTRICAL WORLD.

SIGN TOM AND GEORGES TODAY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 16.—Tom Gibbons, St. Paul's flashy heavyweight, will probably be matched with Georges Carpentier, before sundown tonight. Eddie Kane, manager of Gibbons, has conferred with Tex Rickard for more than two hours discussing details of the match. They were scheduled to meet again today and Kane indicated that he expected to sign articles.
Promoter Rickard is undecided regarding the site of the match. He plans to hold it either in his big arena at Jersey City or in Madison Square Garden. He would prefer Jersey City if he could get a line on the weather in early October. Because it is so variable in this part of the country there is no telling what sort of atmosphere will hover over Jersey on Columbus Day.

HOW HAS THE BALL CHANGED?

(By Sid Mercer).

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, July 16.—Your Uncle Wilbert Robinson hopped into Yankee headquarters for a chat with his old friend, Col. T. H. Huston. There he encountered a flock of interviewers. It wasn't long until some one cornered him with the query "What's the matter with baseball?" "You can search me," Robinson responded. "I didn't know there was anything wrong until some of the boys began to insist upon it. There may be nothing wrong with baseball but there's something wrong with THE baseball or else pitching has become a lost art."
"Have you noticed how many games run along to the fifth or sixth inning without a score and then, suddenly, the pitching goes bloozy? I can't understand it. If it's the lively ball, how do pitchers get by in the early part of the game?"
"A feature of ball games that has impressed me more than anything else is the inability of pitchers, good pitchers, too, to hold fast leads in the late stages."
"The other day Carl Mays blew an eight run lead over the White Sox. Ordinarily you would bet a million to one that a team like the Sox could not spot a pitcher like Mays that many runs. Pitchers complain about the ball. Whatever is to blame, we know that when a team starts hammering a pitcher, it is a long way to that third out."
"Until this season managers seldom worried when a good pitcher got into trouble as long as he had three or four runs in the bank. Now it is different. The minute a rally starts out go the reserves to warm up."
Managers hate to show lack of confidence in a good pitcher. For this reason many of them are permitted to stay in there and take their beatings.

CHURCHMEN PLAY BALL.

Bang Out 38 Hits For 33 Runs at Comforter Picnic.

The picnic of the Church of the Comforter at Forsyth Park on Thursday was a decided success, particularly a fast base ball game when Buddington's "Tigers" defeated Schryver's "Hot Dogs" in a fast and exciting ten inning game by the score of 17 to 16. The Tigers fought an uphill game, coming from behind in the ninth inning. With the score 16 to 12 against them they filled the bases and tied the score on E. Ritch's long home run drive, his only hit of the game, and in the tenth proceeded to win on two two-baggers by Elmdorf and Conklin. Features of the game were the star pitching of "Babe" Ruth, Schryver, who relieved Brown in the sixth after the Tigers scored eight runs. In the seventh he retired the side on strikes. The hitting and base running of Leroy and Carpenter was remarkable, each getting four hits and stealing three bases.

Bobby Carpenter had eight put-outs. For the Tigers, Conklin and Elmdorf starred in the field, making many dazzling stops, as well as three double plays, one of which in the tenth cut off two runs after the "Hot Dogs" threatened a winning rally. Captain Buddington's pitching was excellent, striking out Brown and A. Ritch every time they came to bat. K. Haines hit two high fouls. "Skeets" Myer's merciless umpiring was the big feature of the game. The score:

BIG BALL SERIES BEGINS TODAY

Giants on Home Grounds Will Try to Drag Pirates Out of Lead—Yankers in Same Kind of Effort at Cleveland.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, July 16.—There's going to be something of a ruckus up in Harlem during the next few days. It will be staged by those Parade-leads' Pittsburgh Pirates and the Men O' McGraw, and it may develop anything from an earthquake to a catastrophe.

The leadership of the National League is the plum for which the Giants and Corsairs will struggle and outcome of the series will have an important bearing on the race. George "Mooney" Gibson led his fightin' Buccaneers into town today from Philadelphia. They came from Quakerville heading a lead of three games over the second place New Yorkers who hope to grind it into atoms and move into first place themselves.

The Giants are primed for this series, which is by far the most important of the National League season to date. McGraw has Bill Ryan, his sensational youngster, going at top speed and Artie Nehf and Jesse Barnes have been pitching great ball of late. The addition of Casey Stengel and Johnny Rawlings to the Giants lineup has also added power to the McGraw machine.

Trimming Pittsburgh, however, will be no easy assignment. Earlier in the season the Giants managed to do it, having won four of six games played by the two teams to date, but Mr. Gibson's outfit is playing much better ball today.

Gibson has Cooper, his great southpaw; Glazner, Morrison and Yellow-horse, his trio of crack youngsters; and Hamilton, Carlson and Adams, not to mention Zinn, to do the hurling against McGraw's pitching ace. In order to do the Pirates much harm the Giants will have to sweep the series. An even break would be, in a sense, a Pirate victory for if Gibson's lads can go back to Pittsburgh still clinging to the lead they will be well fixed to build onto it.

In the series starting at the Polo grounds today and the one which opens in Boston next Wednesday, Pittsburgh faces the toughest part of the eastern trip.
The fashion in which those astonishing Boston Braves have been stepping along during the last two weeks has given both Gibson and McGraw food for worrisome thought, and the Buccos must stop Boston as well as the Giants if they are to hold the advantage they now enjoy. A good many baseball critics are just convinced now that the team that beats Boston will win the gonfalon.

The race in the American League has nothing very interesting to offer over this week end or the first of next week, but on Wednesday there should be some fireworks worth while watching when the Yankees attempt to drag the Indians off top rung of the percentage ladder. Huggins' boys whipped up in St. Louis—in Huggins' absence, too—and they will invade Cleveland very cocky and full of fight.

HAVE YOU SUMMER FROCKS ENOUGH TO BE ALWAYS DAINTY AND CHARMING?

COULD YOU USE A DAINTY ORGANDIE, A PRETTY GINGHAM, OR A REAL LINEN DRESS

YOU can have the dainty comfort of all three of them—for what you usually pay for one—and if you would make them yourself—and that is a "possible" possibility even for one who has never sewed.

For the New McCall "Printed" Patterns make the fashioning of clever, successful Frocks easy—they are Patterns with printed instructions (a new invention) not at all confusing and puzzling like the old-style Patterns!

Imagine a paper model that—put into cloth

—would make a frock with the smartness and chic of "line" that you admire in the ready-to-wear!

That, in a word, is what you may expect from the new McCall "Printed" Patterns—for the correct foundation of style and "line" is provided you by the expert dressmakers who make the Patterns, and all you have to do is to follow the printed instructions for putting parts together.

Anyone can make simple little Summer dresses—and have the joy of fresh, different ones for various occasions!

AT THIS STORE—THE DELIGHTFUL MATERIALS OF SUMMER—THE FRILLY TRIMMINGS—THAT HELP YOU TO SEW MORE SUCCESSFULLY!
